

A large, rectangular indoor waterfall feature is the central focus. It has a thick glass front panel held in place by a dark metal frame. Water flows from the top edge, creating a misty spray. The interior of the waterfall is illuminated from within, casting a warm, golden glow. At the base of the waterfall, there is a bed of smooth, dark stones. A small potted plant with pink flowers sits on a dark surface to the right of the waterfall. The background wall is dark and textured, with a wavy, organic pattern on the left side. The floor is made of large, dark tiles.
